

REGIONAL ADVOCATE JOB DESCRIPTION

OUR MISSION:

Help One Now exists to empower families in developing countries through high-capacity local leaders with proven solutions to end extreme poverty. We empower families through business, education, and community care in partnership with local leaders.

OUR CORE VALUES:

At Help One Now, we are:

1. Transparent - We view all of our relationships as friendships, and value open conversations and transparency in those relationships - from our team, to donors, international partners, and everyone in between, we're always open, honest, and up front.
2. Inclusive - We are a wide table: we believe anyone who wants a seat at the table of doing good deserves to be here. That means we have a wide range of personalities and perspectives surrounding us, and we think that's beautiful. We recognize tension, but prioritize connection and empathy.
3. Collaborative - We believe our greatest gift is one another. Collaboration is how our best work gets done - collaborating with our friends, donors, international partners, and each other is what makes us great.
4. Innovative - We are smart, fun and entrepreneurial. Being part of our team means taking initiative and problem solving some of the most unique issues from small to large.
5. Empowering - We exist to empower people around the world, and we take that value to heart. This includes empowering our team, donors, and friends. We believe everyone's voice matters and seek to see all people live out their fullest potential.
6. Committed - We are committed to the partners, families, and children we serve around the world. We're in this for the long haul and we believe true partnership only exists with true commitment. That commitment is a two way street and we strive to uphold it in all of our relationships - our commitment to our donors, to utilize the resources they give for the greatest impact; to international partners, to stand by them and work together for good; to the people we serve, to develop in healthy, sustainable, dignified ways; and to each other, to see this work through.
7. Friendship - We value the collaborative relationships we develop here at Help One Now. We think the best way to stay committed and connected is to remember that we are building friendships. We create a team atmosphere, we love to have fun together, work hard and play hard. We take that value into every facet of our organization - our global partnerships, team building, donor journey, and board relationships.

FUNDRAISING AT HELP ONE NOW

At Help One Now, we believe in friendship and building meaningful relationships. Our donors are partners in the work we do...and we believe partnership is not just about a donation of resources, it is an invitation into incredible work that impacts real lives in the communities we serve.

A summary of our philosophy of fundraising is as follows:

1. Awareness and Identification: Effectively making our work and impact known.
2. Qualification: Understanding the donor's interests and willingness to donate.
3. Cultivation: We know that building relationships takes time, energy and effort. We're willing to build quality relationships over time.
4. Solicitation and Acquisition: When the time is right, making the relevant ask and closing the deal.
5. Retention: Relationships don't end with a donation from a donor. Stewarding the donors giving; providing clear and transparent communications about their impact are the best ways we continue to deepen the relationship.
6. Advancement: When the time is right, inviting the donor into advocacy and overall deeper involvement and impact.
7. Transformative Giving: Inviting a donor to be in a form of leadership (i.e. committee) and/or increasing to a major gift and/or endowment giving.
